

Holly Powers

Engineering Technician, Project Production

Background Holly joined the Landworks Studio team in the spring of 2006 to contribute her education and design knowledge to a variety of projects. Holly's hands on approach and in-field experience create a valuable link between contractors and designers during construction of our projects.

Design and planning experience includes developing public park master plans, design and construction documents for hike/bike trails, streetscape enhancement projects, and park projects.
